meetings in style

The National Maritime Museum in Amsterdam is a meeting location where history, character and imposing architecture come together. What you and your guests will experience as an inspiring day.

Treat your guests to a visit to the museum during the break. Whether you prefer a guided tour or a teambuilding activity, we are happy to discuss the possibilities with you.

everything under the same roof

From welcome reception to meeting, and from museum visit to drinks afterwards. Our team can tend to every aspect of your meeting. The historical setting, the central location at the water in the city centre of Amsterdam and the outstanding service make for an unforgettable experience. The spacious and light chambers make for an inspiring setting. The Admiralty boardroom, former gentleman's chamber, is very suitable for meetings in style for smaller groups.

The three gorgeous, historical chambers with their high ceilings are ideally suited for a meeting, presentation or seminar. The chambers can be used in a variety of ways for a fully catered day, and are suitable for small and large groups. All three chambers are equipped with a beamer, a projection screen and WIFI. If additional audiovisual resources are required, we will be happy to assist with selecting the right technique offer for your event. In addition to years of experience at our location, we work together with the best partners in the industry.

The National Maritime Museum has various catering packages for your meeting. From the fully catered lunch and the bites during the after drinks, all is freshly made in our own kitchen on a daily basis. The Chef works according to the Dutch Cuisine movement: beautiful regional and seasonal products inspired by our own Dutch food and culture.

at your service

We would be happy to assist you with planning your meeting day. From programme and AV-solutions to catering and activities. If desired, we can take care of everything. Please ask us about the possibilities.
